DAVID BELLVIA, US ARMY (RET.) MEDAL OF HONOR RECIPIENT

David Bellavia is the first and only living Iraq veteran to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor, which is our country's highest military honor. Bellavia was awarded the Medal of Honor for heroic efforts on Nov. 10, 2004, during the Third Battle in Fallujah — dramatic efforts that saved the lives of his unit members. He served three military campaigns: Kosovo 2003 and Operation Iraqi Freedom I and Operation Iraqi Freedom II. Bellavia enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1999 and chose to stay and fight following the Sept. 11 terror attacks. Bellavia returned to Iraq as an embedded reporter covering heavy fighting in 2006 and 2008, and in 2007 wrote and published House to House, a book detailing his experiences in Fallujah. His book is considered one of the best first-hand military accounts ever written. Bellavia's many awards and decorations include the Bronze Star, the National Defense Service Medal, Kosovo Campaign Medal with Bronze Service Star, New York State Conspicuous Service Cross, the Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, and the NATO Medal. He was inducted into the New York State Veterans Hall of Fame in 2005. Bellavia is a Western New York native. He is a 1994 graduate of Lyndonville High School in Orleans County and studied biology and theater at the University of Buffalo. Today he is active traveling the country as a speaker sharing the important message of service over self and as a sought-after source for national media.

MAGALI HAAS, MD, PHD CEO AND PRESIDENT, COHEN VETERANS BIO SCIENCE

Dr. Haas is Chair, CEO and President of Cohen Veterans Bioscience, a non-profit brain research organization based in New York City whose mission is to fast-track diagnostics and therapeutics to advance precision brain health. Magali has over 15 years of pharmaceutical executive experience, predominantly at Johnson & Johnson, where she assumed broad end-to-end development leadership roles in early and late stage neuroscience clinical development, translational medicine, diagnostics and integrative solutions. To pioneer new approaches for precision therapeutics for brain health, she founded Orion Bionetworks in 2012, which was transformed to Cohen Veterans Bioscience in 2015, while also serving as founding Chief Science and Technology Officer for One Mind for Research. She serves on several advisory boards including Alto Neurosciences, Partnership for Assessment and Accreditation of Scientific Practice, VirtualBrainCloud, Krembil Centre for Neuroinformatics and IMEC for nanoelectronics. Magali earned her BS in bioengineering from the University of Pennsylvania, an MS in biomedical engineering from Rutgers University, and her MD and PhD in neuroscience with distinction from Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

COLONEL DAVID SUTHERLAND, US ARMY (RET.) CHAIRMAN, DIXON CENTER FOR MILITARY AND VETERANS SERVICES

Colonel Sutherland culminated his 29 years of service as the Special Assistant to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff with principle focus on Warrior and Family Support. In that position, he created a support network providing grassroots solutions for veterans and military families. Prior to that, he served as a Combat Brigade Commander during Surge Operations in Iraq in 2007-2008. He has been decorated numerous times during his career and proudly wears the Bronze Star Medal with oak leaf cluster, Purple Heart, Ranger Tab, Combat Infantryman's Badge Second Award, and Senior Parachutist Badge. He is also the 2008 Freedom Award recipient presented by the No Greater Sacrifice Foundation; the 2011 Meritorious Service Award recipient presented by the National Coalition for Homeless Veterans; the 2013 Commitment to Service Award presented by Give an Hour for his work on behalf of returning service members, veterans, military families and families of the fallen; and the 2019 Vigiano Family Hope & Courage Award presented by Hope for the Warriors. Colonel Sutherland also holds the title of Honorary Colonel of the 12th Infantry Regiment.

Under his leadership, Dixon Centers has delivered profound results for veterans.

SARAH TAYLOR NATIONAL PRESIDENT, AMERICAN GOLD STAR MOTHERS

When she joined the national Gold Star Mothers group following her son's death in 2012, Sarah Whittedge Taylor, of Henderson Kentucky, had no idea she'd be the organization's president someday.

She simply wanted to do something with her grief.

Officially known as American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., the group is a nonprofit made up of mothers of children who died serving in the Armed Forces. There are around 1,000 members. Taylor was elected president in June.

"There's nothing more devastating to a mother than losing a child," Taylor said. "While our stories are different, they're also the same. We've each made a choice to not let our grief control us, but instead to reach out to others."

Sarah has pioneered the recognition of mothers of soldiers who die by suicide as Gold Star Mothers.

SUISILENCE SYMPOSIUM

DAY #1

COMMUNITY DRIVEN

SOLDIERS WHO ARE AT RISK FOR SUICIDE RESPOND BEST TO LOCAL, MORE PERSONAL, AND RELATABLE SUPPORT SYSTEMS.

Dixon Center for Military and Veterans Services has impacted nearly 2.4 million individuals and organizations since 2012 by providing and coordinating technical assistance/training, resource sharing, and strong leadership for our partners.

"Dixon Center has defined the American model of excellence for the successful reintegration of our veterans and military families. From their tireless work in the Pentagon to the emergence of Dixon Center, the leadership inspires and encourages all of us to break down the silos and never forget to put veterans and their need first." *Admiral Michael Mullen, U.S. Navy (Retired), 17th Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

On December 6, Dixon Center will host a series of conversations around with organizations that are tackling the evolving needs of veterans and their families. These panels will focus on the balanced approach to reducing the isolation and disconnection that precedes suicide thru THE EIGHT DIMENSIONS OF WELLNESS: Environmental, Occupational, Financial, Physical, Intellectual, Emotional, Social, and Spiritual.

U.S. VETS With over 20,000 veterans supported each year, US Vets is on a mission to end veteran homelessness in the United States. "The streets" are simply no place for veterans; no place for the many men and women who volunteered, giving of themselves and their youth, to protect our great freedoms. Their vision is that all veterans and their families shall have their needs met to regain and maintain productive independence.

The Utility Workers Military Assistance Program (UMAP) is a training-to-placement program that has helped over 700 veterans find good, family-sustaining careers in the utility sector since 2011. Their partnership with Dixon Center for Military and Veterans Services is a proven model for combining specialized training with wrap-around support services for veterans—ensuring that veterans and their families succeed in the communities where they live.

VeteransPlus programs were designed by Veterans and are delivered by Veterans to provide practical financial solutions geared to real life circumstances of current and former military personnel. The need for financial coaching has never been greater. Having the resources to meet practical needs and having a sense of control over one's financial future is key to the overall well-being of veterans and their families.

K9s for Warriors The nation's largest provider of service dogs to veterans, K9s For Warriors exists because of a fierce dedication to saving the lives of both veterans and rescue dogs. This program is backed by scientific research and empowers veterans who fought for our freedom to live a life of dignity and independence. K9s For Warriors provides highly-trained Service Dogs to military veterans suffering from PTSD, traumatic brain injury and/or military sexual trauma. 92% of graduates of their program report reduction in medication and 82% report a decline in suicide ideation.

FourBlock is dedicated to supporting returning service members in their transition from military service to meaningful civilian careers. Their flagship Career Readiness Program is taught by corporate executives and has graduated over 3,500 veterans and now serves more than 600 transitioning veterans annually. Their mission is to equip veterans and military spouses to successfully transition to meaningful civilian careers. Their vision is to build a national professional network where transitioning veterans and military spouses can connect locally and attain the skills, resources, and relationship-building opportunities necessary to reach their career potential.

Vets4Warriors Vets4Warriors is a national 24/7-peer support network for veteran and military communities 100% staffed by trained veterans and members of the military community, their families or caregivers. Their program complements official government resources available to service members, veterans, family members and caregivers, but remains separate from them. This allows them to ensure that every caller always has access to every available resource to meet their needs, whatever those needs may be. Since 2011, they have made more than 650,000 connections with individuals via phone, chat, and email to provide support before challenges turn into crises.

Hope for the Warriors understands the unique challenges our post-9/11 service men and women confront every day and their goal is to be there for them on their healing journey. In 2021 alone, HOPE transformed the lives of 10,000 military members and families through their 360° approach to services, promoting a whole-person wellness for each military member they support. Through their three program areas—Transition Services, Clinical Health & Wellness, and Sports & Recreation—they help service members and military families on their journey to wellness and a successful transition to civilian life.
